DOG BITING 4, MAD, BELIEF

Head of Animal Is Sent To Austin By Baker

Mrs. J. A. Bull, 137 Third street and two or three children in Port Arthur are known to have been bitten by dog yesterday which is thought to be mad. Dr. O. J. Baker reported today. Indications are that the dog had a well pronounced case of rabies, Dr. Baker said.

The dog later was identified by Mrs. Bull in the city dog pound where the animal had been claimed by the dog catcher, not knowing that it was suspected of being mad.

The dog was killed and its head sent to Austin for examination for rabies. Mrs. Bull is waiting to hear the report from the examining physician before she considers taking a treatment for rabies.

Several other dogs here are thought to have been bitten by the animal, according to Dr. Baker.

MAYFIELD PROBE TURNS TO KLAN

Opposing Attorneys Meet By Agreement

United Press
WASHINGTON, May 15.—With the investigating committee in recess until tomorrow, opposing attorneys in the contest to unseat Senator Earle R. Mayfield of Texas met by agreement today to examine the financial records of the Ku Klux Klan which were submitted to the committee yesterday.

Counsel for George E. B. Peden, who is contesting Mayfield's seat, charged that the Klan sent thousands of dollars to Texas in 1922 to aid Mayfield. This is denied by both Mayfield and the Klan.

While Peden's counsel say they are by no means certain that the Klan books brought here will confirm this charge, they say they expect to prove it and it is reported that papers pertaining to the secret documents of the imperial palace of the Klan at Atlanta will be introduced later.

$500 DEMANDED

time, 11 o'clock came, passed and nobody appeared to claim the dummy package. The officers stayed on the watch until past 1 o'clock Monday night and left, convinced the warning was a fake or a joke.

The matter had been practically forgotten since Monday night, until early this morning when Zumo's store burned.

The fire department answered the call at about 1 o'clock this morning. Members of the department said every evidence of incendiarism was evidenced in the destruction of the store, as the building was a mass of flames on their arrival.

Chains No Enemies

Zumo when questioned closely this morning would refuse to do so.

"I am ruined. I am ruined. Five years' work all gone," he said sadly, as he tramped around the ashes of his store.

"They burn me up after writing me letters. I don't know who did it. I have no enemies. If my dog hadn't scratched on my door and woke me myself, wife and two babies would have been burned up," Zumo said this morning.

When questioned about insurance, Zumo said he had some but not enough to cover the loss.

"Why, I only took out some insurance on my stock last week," the Italian said.

Insurance records here show on last Thursday, Mrs. S. Zumo took out $2,000 insurance from O. F. Werner on part of his stock and a similar amount from Travis Lambert of the Home Insurance company on the remainder. The building owned by Zumo, is insured by E. L. Vaughan and company for $3,000.

Police Chief Covington would make no statement this morning when asked the direct question whether he believed a black hand gang was operating in Port Arthur.

"The way the case is now, I can't make a definite statement. Arrests will probably be made and the case followed up to the end," was the chief's statement.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS ARE LAID

Indicate General Observance In Port Arthur

Memorial Day, May 30, will be widely and fittingly observed in Port Arthur, early plans being made by military and church organizations seem to indicate.

The American Legion, according to Secretary J. L. Dunn, will this year arrange an elaborate program if possible. A committee to make arrangements for the event has been appointed and is now working, composed of H. B. Dugay, G. L. Root and Billy Nathan.

It is probable all military organizations and units represented here will merge their programs into one. Mr. Dunn, who is also secretary of the Reserve Officers' association, says. This will include the American Legion and Auxiliary, the Reserve Officers' associations, the national guard units, members of the Sons of Confederate Veterans' association and possibly others.

The Congregational church, Rev. E. C. Weidner pastor, will observe special Memorial day services on the morning of Sunday, May 25. The Legion and auxiliary has accepted an invitation to participate at the program arranged by the church at that date.

That other churches of the city will either by program or special services recognize the day is expected and announcements made soon.

PIER WORK IS TO START SOON

Last Cable to Be Retrieved, Repairs Next

Work will be started today or tomorrow to retrieve the cable to the Pleasure Pier bridge so that the bridge may be repaired as soon as possible. C. E. Dunstan, who was granted the pier pavilion and refreshment concession, announced this morning.

Arrangements have not been completed for the recovery of the cable but it is expected that men will be put to work immediately. As soon as the cable is fixed the approaches to the bridge will be put in readiness and other work necessary on the bridge will be completed, Dunstan explained.

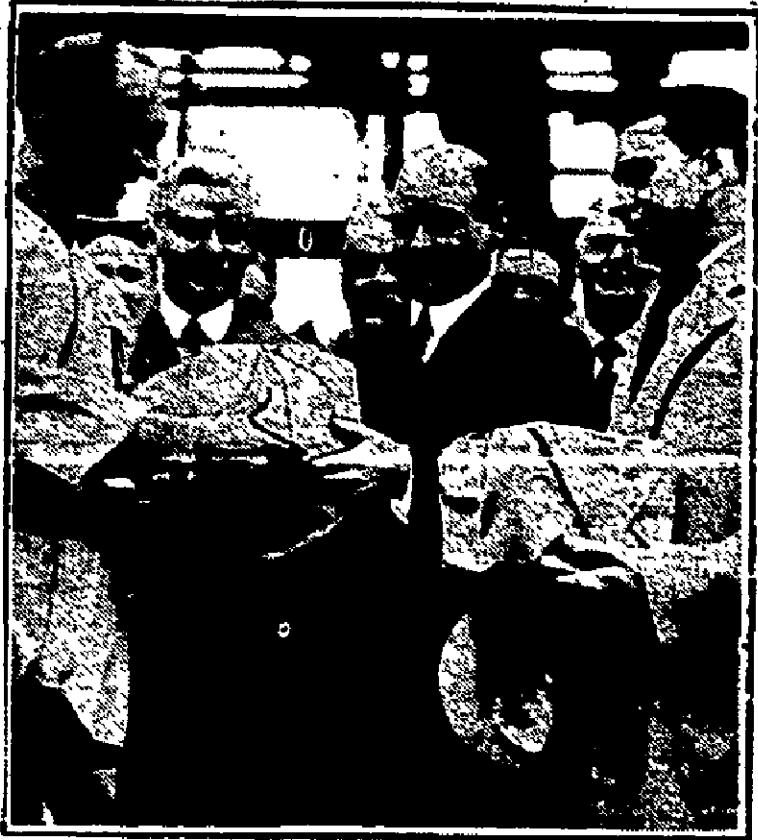

When the bridge is repaired, the pavilion and refreshment stands will be put in readiness as the bridge must be fixed before material can be taken to the pier, Dunstan said.

It is not known how long it will take to recover the cable and complete work on the bridge.

RAIL SQUABBLE SCORES LEADERS Coalition Demands Adoption Of Gooding Bill

WASHINGTON. May 15.—The entire legislative program of congress became involved today in the senate squabble over reduction of railroad rates. For three days the progressive-democratic coalition has held up an appropriation bill with their drive for adoption of the Gooding "long and short" rail bill aimed at the railroads.

The cry of "filibuster" has been raised by republicans who say the house will kill any attempt to attack the progressive rail program to the war department appropriation measure.

"If you don't let us pass it now, we will stay here until you do let us pass it," was the answer that came back from the coalition.

Third developments in the face of progressives that Congress would surely adjourn June 7—less than three weeks hence—alarmed leaders.

Senator Smith, South Carolina, said today he would call the senate inter-state commerce committee together this week for a vote on repeal of the rate making clause in the present rail law. The committee is expected to report it out.

A bill repealing the Pullman surcharge also may be reported out simultaneously. The bill abolishing the railroad labor board will be reported from the sub-committee to the full committee today but it is doubtful that it will ever get to the senate floor.

In the house, the situation is discouraging to progressives. They could get some of their program through the senate but not through the house.

DEATH OF DR. SUN IS FALSE, SAY CHINESE

DALLAS, May 15.—Canton officials ridicule reports that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the "South China Republic," is dead, the Hong Kong correspondent of the Central News telegraphed today and attribute the report of his death to the fact he has been incommunicado because of a foreigner's illness.

The foreign office in Peking announced Sun Yat Sen's death officially yesterday, but it has never been confirmed from Canton. Reports of the death have been circulated for the last three days.

DEFEATED CANDIDATE SEEKS $25,000 DAMAGES

HOUSTON, Texas, May 15.—Because he is employe by a railroad and because bandhills were scattered about alleging that he had used a "free pass" for political purposes, H. P. Evans, defeated candidate for mayor of Park Place, has brought suit against certain voters for $25,000.

Panas alleges that his character and reputation were damaged to the extent of the $25,000 because the bandhills implied he had used a "pass" in violation of the Texas criminal law in going to Austin to consult the attorney general regarding contemplated improvements for Park Place.

CALIFORNIA MAY MODIFY TICK LAW

HOUSTON, May 15.—California's regulations against the importation of Texas cattle into that state because of infestation with fever ticks will be modified if plans toward that end, being worked out by J. E. Booz-Scott, chairman of the sanitary livestock commission of Texas are successful.

Booz-Scott seeks to have California officials recognize a federal bureau of animal industry which issues certificates showing that cattle in certain sections of the state are free from ticks and may be shipped into any other state without danger. The federal bureau, according to Scott, has issued no certificates except in countries where systematic eradication is being conducted.

In New York

By STEVE HANNAGAN
News Staff Writer
NEW YORK, May 15.—New York is the sight-blooming center of cities.

During the day it might be most any other city. A little larger, of course; geared a bit higher, possibly a trifle more grim, and sterner on the surface—but with very common place in the sunlight.

It is when nature creates daylight, and slowly passes its wand through twilight and dusk, that New York blinks its electric eyes and becomes a glistening, alluring jewel on a velvet background of blackness.

The transformation from daylight to darkness "comes with a dignity that is awe-inspiring."

The other evening I watched it from the top of a great building, with a systematic, mysterious, lights flashed on to offset the frighteningness of engrossing darkness.

It seemed by a matter of seconds until an artificial glow replaced the daylight.

Probably the most inspiring sight in all New York is to be seen from the Jersey shore when the lights pop on through the windows of the gigantic office buildings in the downtown section.

There is the air of mystery and adventure. Slinking figures locked doors, characters that never brave the sunlight, the pleasure-seeking throngs, all go to make New York something apart from all the world when the shadows of night have fallen.

It is New York at night that awes visitors—for in daytime the big city is a disappointment to whetted imaginations.

Going to church on Sunday is becoming a complicated problem. It must be planned in advance by many families.

On bright, sunny Sunday mornings it is a common occurrence for proud fathers and mothers to wheel their children to church in expensive perambulators, followed a pace or two to the rear by uniformed nurses.

While mamma and papa attend church, the nurse minds the child.

Last Sunday I counted 29 nurses watching their charges before a comparatively small church uptown.

Old Dallas Landmark Out, Skyscraper In

DALLAS, Texas, May 15.—Menors ridicule reports that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the "South China Republic," is dead, the Hong Kong correspondent of the Central News telegraphed today and attribute the report of his death to the fact he has been incommunicado because of a foreigner's illness.

The Oriental, celebrated center of Texas political gatherings and noted meeting place in pioneer days of representative cattle men, ranchers and business men, will be torn down in September, and a giant new hotel erected in its place.

Pioneers accustomed to graciate its grand lobby and banquet rooms where Texan history has been in the making for 30 years, and others who recall the Oriental's big barroom which boasted among other things the first tile floor in Texas, see the passing of this landmark with a sense of regret.

They recall that "only 30 years now" the Oriental was Dallas' tallest and most pretentious building and its food, drinks and hospitality the "finest in the Southwest."

Otto Harold, who represents a group of local capitalists who sold the Oriental property to T. B. Baker, San Antonio, has been general director of the hotel since 1904. Harold is also general manager of the Stonewall court, Dallas' exclusive apartment hotel.

*However,
comes—*DOES JAPANESE ACTIVITY IN OIL
MEAN NEW PREPARATIONS FOR WAR?

Japan is in control of northern Saghalian Islands. Saghalian belongs by right to Russia but in world war times the Japs effected a landing and to have and to hold is the motto of Japan. Who can blame the Jap? All the nations of Europe subscribe to the same doctrine.

Harry F. Sinclair, the American oil king, has concessions that cover the Russian control section of the island. Now comes the news that the Japs have opened three great oil wells in northern Saghalian and are preparing to ship crude oil in large quantities to Japan for the use of the Japanese navy. Japs have a large force of men working the oil fields and large navy tankers are on the way to Tokio to Opa.

Japan, although given a setback by earthquake and tidal wave, is the most powerful nation under Oriental skies and throughout the coming years the Japs will have to be dealt with by the sons of the Occident and dealt with justly. All English speaking countries are prohibiting Japanese immigration but all English speaking countries or peoples are bidding for the commerce of Japan.

Indeed, Japan is the second best customer of the United States. Politicians are rotten trade getters. This was shown when the lower house of congress defeated the Coolidge proposal to make the Japanese exclusion act effective July 1st, instead of effective on the date that the bill is signed by the president. It is all right to exclude the Japs, our second best trade customer, but why insult them?

BROTHER CHARLES HAS A PLATFORM

Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, known to the political leaders as Brother Charles, has a platform. Here it is:

Repeal of all republican laws; immediate reversal of the deflation policy of the federal reserve board; conscientious law enforcement all along the line; taking over and operating by the national government of the coal and gasoline industries; a league of peace but opposition to any entangling alliances which would permit foreign nations to draft American boys or control American dollars; a bonus bill with both insurance and cash payment options for former service men.

Brother Charles is on the road. He is willing to be the standard bearer of the democratic party. Men say he is a regular feller! He is a fine dancer, he knows how to wear evening clothes, he loves the ladies.

He is willing that every man should go to Heaven according to his own conscience or to hell according to his just deserts; he is a coking good story teller and the 100,000 German-American voters of Nebraska helped to elect him governor and are most of his policies.

Brother Charles would make his paradise here below; Brother William wishes to make his over there. There is a difference.

HEARST AND THE INDIANS

William Randolph Hearst, now that Charles F. Murphy is dead, is laying his plans for the capture of Tammany. The publisher speaks through Mayor John F. Hylan and Bryan has a right hand man, former Supreme Court Judge Daniel F. Cohen.

These loopholes frequently are in the nature of intended safeguards for people accused of crimes. But, given a rich client, a shrewd lawyer can find enough of these loopholes to delay, a case almost interminably. The poor man cannot afford such lawyers.

One great weakness of our laws—and a weakness that is employed to keep such offenders out of jail—is our foolish procedure of abiding by technicalities of the law rather than the meaning and intent of the law.

By casting precedents and starting arguments, the rich man's lawyer battles over the interpretation and techniques of the law-suit, even more than the question of guilt or innocence.

We need simpler laws, quicker justice—and more judges like Well, invariably going to hammer and tongue after offenders regardless of wealth and standing. The courts are fast enough, all right, when the defendant can't hurt an atom of skinned "mousetraps."

Hearst has his millions, he has his chain of newspapers, he has his battery of magazines and is the Northcliffe in a newspaper sense of the English speaking world. But the Tammany Indians refuse to come at his beck and call, they refuse to take orders from him and now he is planning to make them take orders.

There is going to be a beautiful fight in the great city of New York for the vacant shoes of Murphy, who was loved by the common people the man who was generous to a fault with his dollars when the common people needed his dollars, the man who never replied to criticism, the man who was born in a tenement and fought his way to Alpine heights and lastly the man who was mourned by millions in a great city, millions who never see their names in the public prints but who rallied on election day to give their ballots to the candidates for office who had sworn allegiance to Tammany Hall and its silent dictator.

The two are related. Neglected teeth—and dentists—poison the body and ruin the complexion. Head beauty is a by-product of beauty. The most alluring peach bloom of the cheek is not sold at any Port Arthur drug store.

Another just-in-executioner commits suicide in Germany—his name Schweiss, age 74, reared on a small pension.

In his career he chopped off the heads of 128 criminals.

Not an enviable record to carry into the hereafter. He is on the other side now and how many (if any) of his victims were innocent, also whether capital punishment is classed as murder on the other side: The original version was "They shall not kill"—without qualifications. Man has amended it for warfare and revenge against each other.

Iron production in April was 4 per cent less than in March. But the furnaces turned out 223 tons during the month for every 207 tons in April, 1922, and 369 tons in April, 1923.

Monthly production figures tell the real story, the truth. With iron output dropping only 4 per cent in April, it's obvious that the iron and steel slump has not been nearly as bad as was rumored. It's the same with oil. A business slowdown usually occurs before the presidential nomination convention. Look for a compact revival in refining as well as other business that fall. It may not come, but look for it. No use gloomily. Generally trade winds back upward again after the candidates are selected.

The big game hunter, Carl Akeley, says: "One of my native boys spear a young gorilla. I came to it as it lay dying. Its mother was already dead. When it saw me, it stretched out its infant arms in appeal and cried when I touched it." Some people call this sort of thing "sport."

A document bearing the signature of George Washington and his wife is sold at auction for $250. Most of us would sign our name 10,000 or more times for that much money.

The big price, however, was paid for rarity rather than because of the Washington signatures. If George and Martha had left a million signed papers they'd be worth less than a dollar apiece. That's why collectors pay fabulous sums for scarce coins of modern times, while coins minted 2,000 years ago and still existing in great quantities are worth next to nothing.

The ordinary bee stings but once, but when a constituent is stung you can't make him believe that of a political bee.

Another man we don't love much is the one who becomes increasingly belligerent as he grows too old to serve in the trenches.

"We need religion in our politics," says a divine. It isn't probable, however, that the holy-roller ever will replace the steam roller.

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Mortgages, Stocks, Bonds, and Investments

The coining of pennies indicates the trend of trade conditions.

The director of the United States mint reports that the number of pennies coined furnishes an accurate index to business conditions throughout the country from year to year.

The period leading up to and including 1907 was one of unusual commercial activity, and during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, the coinage of pennies for the first time in history exceeded $1,000,000. This boom culminated in a panic which was followed by extreme depression in all lines of business, and during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, only $328,420.87 in pennies was coined.

Then better times prevailed, and for the year 1910 it was necessary to coin $1,328,420.18 in pennies. This annual gradually declined, then coincided with the period of business depression just preceding the outbreak of the European war.

You are quite all right; nothing can hurt you. What frightened you? I was only gone a moment; I couldn't find the light. I wouldn't have left you for worlds if I'd known you were nervous."

Something in his voice stopped her sobbing; she looked up at him, trying to smile.

"You were so long, and I got lonely. I—I—oh, I believe I saw the ghost!"

"Nonsense!" He laughed a little. "It's just your imagination. I am sure you never saw any ghost; it must have been the moonlight."

His quiet voice reassured her; she wiped her eyes vigorously. Presently David took his arm away and rose to his feet.

He had turned on all the lights in the room; now he stopped, and poked the fire into a blaze.

"And a few moments ago," he said whimsically, "you told me that you would like to live in that part of the house."

"Then I have changed my mind; I shouldn't like it at all."

"I haven't heard you at all since I left England. If you sold our furniture and things, you might let me have the money for them after all."

"If you will never walk again, we'll have a shilling in the world except what we had saved, and that won't keep us for more than a few weeks."

So I am going to write to David Bretherton. After all, I have some claim on him, and he was always kind to us even when Nigel was ill.

I am sending this letter to the old address, and hope it will find you. Write to me as soon as you can, and say what you think about my chances with D. B. Have you seen him?

A dainty sweet pea luncheon of attractive appointments was given yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock by Mrs. R. N. Woodworth at her lovely home on Woodworth boulevard. The luncheon was arranged in entertainment of the Wednesday Whist club.

A tempting card course luncheon was offered. Whist gave after-luncheon diversion, and in the games Mrs. J. P. Laudes received the prize for high score and Mrs. George M. Craig was awarded the second favor. Mrs. Mason of Chicago was presented with the handsome guest award. As favors for the guests, each was presented with a beautiful corsage of sweet peas.

The personnel of the charming hospitality included Mrs. G. N. Hiss, Mrs. George M. Craig, Mrs. R. L. Drake, Mrs. Marion L. Drake, Parkham, Mrs. Mason of Chicago, Mrs. G. L. Prichard, Mrs. John W. Tryon, Mrs. H. H. Woodworth, and the hostess, Mrs. E. N. Woodworth.

Women Still Too New at Politics for Big Jobs, Says Woman Democratic Vice Chairman

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS NEA Service Writer

There is no royal road to political leadership for a woman any more than for a man, according to Emily Newell Blair, vice chairman of the democratic party, who holds the highest position of any woman in the country.

"We have two types of women in politics," she explains to me. "One is merely the unconscious tool of a group of men who have decided that an office should be given to a woman whom they selected regardless of qualifications."

"The other is the woman who works up through the ranks just as all the real leaders of men have done, starting in her own precinct, then gradually working up to state and national politics, and building a following as she goes."

Needless to say, it is the latter type which must be developed, Mrs. Blair believes.

"To put a woman, unused to political and public life, in an office that requires a thorough knowledge of issues and the technique of statesmanship is to hinder rather than help women's progress," she continued.

The policy that women should stick together and vote for a woman running for office merely through sex loyalty is the greatest mistake.

It is perfectly natural, she believes, for women to be impatient of the tedious processes of political progress, but developing leaders in any field is not a short-cut proposition.

Mrs. Blair herself grew-up in a family where politics formed the main topic of conversation, and she was prominent in the suffrage campaign. For the last four years she has been an organizer and leader of women in her party.

"Women are tremendously important this election, whether as voters or office seekers, and both parties are playing for the 'wife vote,' she concluded. "Nothing can stop women's political power, but we can retard it by seeking to carry before we are ready the loads that come to us when we are strong enough to assume them."

Groups and Lines of Room Should Be Proportioned

THE DRAPERY IN THIS ROOM WOULD LOOK BETTER IF TIED BACK FARTHER DOWN, TO KEEP THE PROPER PROPORTIONS.

One of the fundamental thoughts, well as lines and color. A heavy group at only one end of the room with all other groups light, overbalances the room and makes the entire place feel uncomfortable and uninteresting.

The reason why people are attracted to the unusually tall man and the unusually short one together is because one accentuates the other and each is made all the more unusual by the proximity of the other. Both make a queer, inharmonious group.

Similarly with furniture, or any other features about the home. Place a small Windsor chair alongside a heavy overstuffed easy chair, and there is a clash of appearances. They make a distasteful group.

For instance, the tie-back on the window drapery makes the entire draping look best when placed three-eighths from the bottom of the window. A shade drawn down rather than across the window paneling. The best proportionate division for a rectangular surface, like a wall, door or window, is three-eights, or five-eighths from one side. Halves, thirds or quarters make the proportions look uninteresting and devoid of personality.

Californians Tap Boilers In Devil's Canyon With Wells Spouting Steam Energy

FIRST STEAM MINE IS DUG

Then Superheated Vapor Is Made Into Electricity

By A. H. FREDERICK
News Staff Writer

HEADSBURG, Calif., May 15.—They dig for steam in "Devil's Canyon," near here.

They convert it into electricity.

Only once before has man succeeded in conquering the "burning earth" in large scale, that was 20 years ago, but on a smaller scale.

Years ago Indians came awestruck to the spot, worshipping face downward the incomparable power which sent smoke curling up through the ground.

Along came a hunter named Elliott in 1847. His axe equalled the red men's, and he called the place "Devil's Canyon."

For years it was a mecca for tourists. It remained for a neighborhood lad, John D. Grant, to see its hidden possibilities. Now he is carrying out dreams of his boyhood.

But he was only a man with a "wild idea." Bankers and business men laughed at him. Undaunted, Grant mortgaged his own property—even his home—and put the money in his theory.

With a three-man crew, he began to drill for steam. At 12 feet under the sandstone, steam sprouts were struck. At 140-foot depth, the well assumed volcanic proportions.

Rocks hundreds of feet away were knocked and sent hurtling down the hillside. Fifteen pounds were thrown 300 feet. Steam pressure became intense—1,800 pounds to the square inch—and the temperature at the surface was 330 degrees.

Pipes were sunk in casings to the desired depth and there anchored. Tee-valves were attached to the upper end; gate valves drilled through and the steam brought under control. Pipes to the turbines completed the job.

"The whole canyon," says Grant, "can be sunk with wells. We have two within 50 feet of each other, with no diminution of steam exhaust in either."

"We could go still deeper. But we have sufficient for our present use."

Each of the three wells in operation thus far has developed from 1000 to 2300 horsepower, increasing in exhaust as new strata are opened. Grant estimates one steam well develops as much electricity as the oil from seven oil wells.

By United Press

QUITMAN, Ga., May 15.—Gene Foster, 82-year-old negro, today began a sentence of 99 years in jail imposed last night by a jury here when he was convicted of a murder committed 12 years ago.

Foster was convicted of murdering R. W. Wilkerson, widely known farmer of this section, with an ax in 1882. Immediately after the murder Foster disappeared and all trace of him was lost until a few days ago when he was found in Florida. Prosecuting it was a case of mistaken identity. Foster was brought back here for trial.

Several of the state's witnesses had died, but enough remained to convince the fact they were trying the right man.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 15.—Methodist-Episcopal ministers of Kansas City interviewed here today on the resolution against war adopted by the standing committee on war at the church conference in Springfield, said while they favored peace, they believed in fighting for America for maintenance of rights if necessary.

"I cannot bring myself to believe that war is never necessary," said Rev. I. M. Hargett of the Grand Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

"I believe the Christian church should set itself the task of forcing war,"

Rev. C. Clark of the Agnes Avenue Methodist Episcopal church said war of defense should not be opposed by the church.

"I do not believe sentiment of the whole church favors such a strange resolution," said Rev. Benjamin Young, pastor of the Linwood Boulevard Methodist Episcopal church.

COLLEGE PLANS

SALES CHAIR

Will Be First in South To Establish Course, Claim

A chair of retail selling will be established in Port Arthur College, making it the first college in the south to install such a course, according to George Power, president. W. P. Smith of New York has engaged to conduct the course, which will be run on a full-time schedule the entire year.

The retail selling course is divided into three branches, all of which will be taught by Smith.

The first branch of the course offered is to high school students and is to be conducted parallel with the stenographic course, with the exception that salesmanship is substituted for shorthand.

The second branch includes experience with employees in business houses here, which will be met in a group and talked to. Thirty students have signed for full time, concurring up to this time, according to Power. Smith will meet the employees at the business houses.

Also a third branch of the course is to include salesmen and other employees who come in contact with the people. These classes will meet in the evenings from 4 to 9 o'clock. It is expected that three groups will be included in this branch which will meet three evenings a week for 36 weeks. The classes will be conducted at the college building.

Smith has received W. A. and M. S. degrees and has had five years experience as a store executive. Arrangements have been made by which he will be permitted to take students into the various business houses and give them practical instruction in salesmanship.

She was at school from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Her two oldest daughters, 15 and 17, aided her.

"My children studied with me at night," she said.

"My husband has co-operated with me to the fullest extent, even working nights in order to be home with the children while I was at school."

Deutschland Hero, Visiting U. S. Sub, Says Militarism Is Growing in America

IS SKEPTICAL OF PEACE PLAN

Capt. Koenig Finds Great Change Since 1913

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
News Staff Writer
(Copyright 1924 by The Port Arthur News)

NEW YORK, May 13.—Militarism in the United States is growing. This is the observation of one of the foremost German officers of the late war—Captain Paul Koenig, who brought the submarine, Deutschland twice across the Atlantic in 1916 and was a terror of the allies during the war.

Captain Koenig is now on his first post-war visit to this country, re-establishing friendly and business connections as chief of the nautical department of the North German Lloyd line.

"I haven't paid an extensive visit to this country since 1913," he says. "But since then the greatest change may be seen in the growth of a militarism."

"When I was here before, I saw few uniforms. Now there are many—recruiting officers at the street corners; soldiers and sailors around town. Boy Scouts increasing and a general growing interest in military affairs."

"Yet your country is taking the initiative in bringing about a world-wide disarmament."

The 5-5 naval agreement of 1922 is an ideal idea.

"But I do not think it is practical. For nations cannot be made to live up to the spirit of the agreement, for they can easily shift their developments to other forms of armaments. For instance, France is increasing her air forces. England, therefore, feels that it, too, must do something along that line. And the vicious cycle begins."

"But if we must have armaments, submarines, I think, are as good as pay—and cheaper."

On the initiation of The Port Arthur News and NEA Service, Captain Koenig went aboard a United States "S" boat, one of the 75 coast defense submarines, lying at rest in the Hudson river. It was the first time he had been on an American sub.

"Not much different from the German," he said, "and the spirit of the men is the same."

Enemy relationships were entirely forgotten. Yarns were swapped, jokes were cracked. The officer and the crew crowded around the German. All were submarine "bugs."

"The old propellers are dead," Captain Koenig said to me later. "And the new propellers are not believed."

"But I think that the next war—and I am afraid that we will have one—will be fought with weapons much the same as the last, with possibly a greater use of gas and air forces."

The submarine can be developed up to 5000 tons. But its uses can be purely military.

"It is said that some of the other nations of the world are building larger subs than you have in America. But the development is kept secret. However, I do not think that the submarine is as essential to the protection of the United States as it may be to other nations."

"Yet it should be remembered that national friendships never come out of pacifistic ideas, but are made by war."

CLEAN BILL FOR WHEELER ASKED

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The senate will be asked to lift all stigma attached to Senator Wheeler as a result of his indictment in Montana by ratifying the Borah committee's report "wholly exonerating" him of misusing his office.

Senator Borah announced today that he would offer a resolution moving the adoption of the report which held that Wheeler "observed at all times not only the letter but the spirit of the law" in his legal services for Gordon Campbell, Montana oil man for whom, it was charged, he appeared before the interior department.

Borah, as forecast by the United Press yesterday, will present this report to the Senate and then the completed bill goes to the president.

The uncompromising stand of Secretary of State Hughes against Russian recognition has had its effect on American public opinion and, in addition, there is a disposition not to regard this as an important question as far as the bulk of the people are concerned. But to Borah and others who have studied it in the light of America's world economic position, the question is paramount. They intend to "cover" the people with summer reasons why it is important. They plan to do this by raising the question at the Cleveland convention when the discussions will be assured wide publicity. They will follow by submission, in public address, of a concrete proposal for intelligent handling of the Russian question in much the same way as the Mexican problem was solved—through appointment of a commission to meet with similar Russian body for discussion and formulation of a basis upon which relations can be renewed.

Administration leaders are ready to resist to the limit any attempt to give Wheeler a "clean bill of health" and thus brand the indictment as unjustified which in turn would sustain Wheeler's charge that it was obtained by a "frame up."

Regular Republicans are inclined to view the case in the same light as Senator Sterling, South Dakota, who acted as "prosecutor" in the Wheeler trial. Sterling believes the committee report should not have dealt with the question whether Wheeler's guilt, but whether the indictment was justified. For that reason he refused to sign the majority report and will submit his personal views today or tomorrow.

No intimation came from Attorney General Stone today regarding action in the Wheeler trial in Montana. Wheeler said he was undecided whether to ask for an immediate trial or to wait until the windup of the Daugherty investigation which he expected before June 1.

RECOGNITION OF RUSS IN PLANK

Republican Leaders to Insist Convention Act

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
Copyright 1924 by United Press

WASHINGTON, May 13.—An influential group of leading republicans, including some senators, will seek a plank in the republican party platform at Cleveland, looking to American recognition of Russia if it is accepted here. France accords recognition of the soviet regime.

Senator Borah, long an advocate of a broader Russian policy, probably will lead the movement. Borah is slated for membership on the resolutions committee which will report the platform. The fight will be put up that committee at Chicago four years ago was largely responsible for modification of the foreign relations plank.

Foreign relations generally and Russian recognition in particular are to be emphasized in the campaign by Borah and other speakers who hold that the United States cannot legislate prosperity for its farmers or business men but must seek it by establishing relations abroad that will reopen to the fullest degree all world markets.

The uncompromising stand of Secretary of State Hughes against Russian recognition has had its effect on American public opinion and, in addition, there is a disposition not to regard this as an important question as far as the bulk of the people are concerned. But to Borah and others who have studied it in the light of America's world economic position, the question is paramount. They intend to "cover" the people with summer reasons why it is important. Three Girl Smokers Banned From College

By United Press
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 15.—Smith College, exclusive school for girls, is out to seek the cigarette and these young women already have paid the price for indulgence of the habit.

President William Nelson made known the expulsion of three seniors—whose names were not given out—in a brief statement in which he said the action had been taken with full approval of the student governing body. The girls will be allowed to apply for reinstatement at the beginning of the spring term next year if they will promise not to use tobacco while in school. They were caught smoking in a tea room near the college campus, in company with several young men.

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-pence original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength, at Hart Drug Co. and Service Drug Store, Corner Drug Co., and City Drug Co.) and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily. Mail orders accepted.—Adv.

Body Is Found, Head Almost Severed

By United Press
PATERSON, N. J., May 15.—The body of Mrs. Maria Safferage, 32, was found in a one-room shack in West Paterson, Thursday. She had been slain.

The head was almost severed from the body, which was horribly hacked. The victim's husband, three nephews and a friend have been detained by police.

Mrs. Safferage was an ardent Roman Catholic and had been visiting the shack every day to superintend construction of a chapel she was building for the people of the neighborhood.

Police found a bloodstained file, the point of which had been sharpened. They believe it was the instrument with which the woman was murdered.

The body was found by Peter Truson, who lives near the shack.

Thrift Essays Written for First National Bank by Pupils of Port Arthur Public Schools

America is a land of waste. We read the newspaper and throw them away or leave them on the street cars or in the railroad station. Papers can be sold as waste paper and a nice sum realized on them. We waste groceries, coal and other fuel. Look in the garbage can of the ordinary American and you can find food enough to feed another family. Coal is left in the open to evaporate, the oil can is left unstoppered or closed with a potato and the waste goes on.

Save energy by planning your work. If you are strong and well-clean your own house instead of hiring a maid. Mend your clothes and keep them clean, they will last twice as long. Spend your money to the best advantage. Think before you buy. "I cannot afford it" is a good motto hung in our homes. It is the base of capital and capital is the foundation of all business.

Save health by following the laws of hygiene. The boys of today will soon be our nation's leaders. Therefore it is important that we build stronger boys and girls—mentally, physically and morally. Wise spending has much to do with the welfare and growth of the future men and women. Let us then urge every American to be thrifty of time, energy, health and money.

Hi School Football for Coming Season Promises to Make Record

Outline New Plan For Grid Season

AUSTIN, Texas, May 15.—Under the new plan fostered by the University of Texas Interscholastic League, high school football for the coming fall promises to establish a record insofar as interest and number of participating schools are concerned. Although schools have until October 1 to indicate a desire to play in the league, nearly 200 teams scattered in all sections of the state have already signed up.

The new scheme, calling for a separation of schools into two divisions, has met with instant favor. The larger schools, that is, those having as many as 350 enrolled in the high school grades and known as Conference A schools, will compete among themselves up to a certain point while sectional and bi-sectional championships will be determined among the smaller or Conference B schools.

The state has been divided into 16 sections for B teams and eight for Conference A. After the 10 Bi-sectional champions have been decided they will participate in inter-sectional battles. At the same time the Conference A will be working out sectional winners, which will leave eight Conference B and eight Conference C aggregations to engage in the elimination series for the state championship.

Here's List Accepted

The schools that have accepted the league's plan for 1924 follow:

Ahline, Albany; Alice, Alvin; Angleton, Athens; Austin, Bartlett; Beaumont, Beville, Burton, Byram, Big Spring, Brackettville, Brady, Breckenridge, Brundin, Bunker, Brownsville, Brownwood, Burnet, Burkhardt, Caldwell, Cleburne, Comanche, Converse, Cooper, Corpus Christi, Crockett, Dallas, (Forest, Aransas), Dallas (Oak Cliff), Dawson, Dayton, De Leon, Del Rio, Denison, Decatur, Denton, Duncan, Eagle Lake, Eagle Pass, Eastland, Edinburgh, Elgin, Ennis, Follett, Fort Worth (Masonic Home), Fort Worth (Polytechnic), Franklin, Galveston (Hall), Gatesville, Gilmer, Gonzales, Goose Creek, Gordon, Gorman, Graham, Granger, Greenville, Hamlin, Harrold, Haskell, Hearne, Hereford, Hondo, Honey Grove, Houston (Central), Houston (Heights), Humble, Huntley, Kaufman, Kemp, Kingsville, Knox City, Lamesa, Lampasas, La Porte, Laredo, Lexington, Littlefield, Livingston, Lockhart, Longview, Lubbock, Lufkin, McKinney, Marshall, Mason, Memphis, Menard, Meriden, Merita, Mexia, Midland, Milford, Mineral Wells, Mount Pleasant, Navasota, Nocona, Orange, Pecos, Palestine, Pampa, Panhandle, Paris, Pearall, Perryton, Plainview, Port Arthur, Post, Quanah, Ralls, Ranger, Rockdale, Roscoe, Roswell, San Angelo, San Antonio, San Antonio (Main Avenue), San Benito, San Saba, San Saba, Schulerberg, Seguin, Seymour, Sherman, Silverton, Sinton (Sudville), Sister, Somer, Sonora, Sour Lake, Stamford, Strawn, Sweetwater, Taff, Taylor, Teague, Temple, Terrell, Texarkana, Texas City, Throckmorton, Thorndale, Tulsa, Tyler, Uvalde, Venus, Victoria, Waco, Weatherford, Wellington, West Columbia, Whitesboro, Whitehouse, Wichita Falls, Winters, Yoakum, Yorktown.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Over the door was a sign.

Mister Bugs had a cute little store in the woods and one day when Nancy and Nick were out hunting for wild flowers, they found it. They had their magic shoes on, that's why. Without the help of magic, they never would have found it in a hundred years.

And even if they had found it, they never would have seen it, half hidden in the trunk of a big tree, with scarcely a sign of a door.

That's what magic does. It opens your eye to lots of things and when the Twins came along, it was not surprising that instead of a lot of rough bark, there was a funny doorway with windows on each side simply studded with thongs.

Over the door was a sign which said "Mister Bugs—His Store—We Sell Everything but the Toothache." Right in the front of one of the windows was a sign which said "For Wanted."

"That's always the way," declared Nancy crossly. "You would think girls were in the road. They might just as well say 'Girls not wanted' at the night."

"Well, when he finds out that we're Twins he will take you, too," said Nick. "You're half of me—sort of."

"Well now, I'll tell you a secret," said Mister Bugs, leaning over the counter. "Well, you both look smart, and that was a bright remark you made about legs. So I'll hire you both at ten cents a week to run errands and deliver my bundles."

"Thank you," said the Twins politely.

"Do we have to run?" asked Nancy crossly. "Ain't we walk sometimes?"

"Well now, I'll tell you a secret," said Mister Bugs, leaning over the counter. "Well, as far as his tummy would hold, I knew all the time that you were coming. The Fairy Queen sent those shoes to you and they led you here. I'm a fairy myself, although I look more like a Brownie, I guess. All the good people and gnomes and water folk deal with me. I keep the general store for three counties and the three of us will be kept hopping. Here's a customer now."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle Ray

If you ever go to Rome, you will surely pay a visit to the ruins of one of the grandest buildings of ancient times—the Colosseum.

In the Colosseum people once sat watching some of the most shameful sights ever seen by human eyes, the fight of man against man for the sport of those who watched. You will get an idea of how much those Romans liked such sights when I tell you there were seats for 80,000 people. Twenty thousand more were able to find standing room.

Our picture shows a view of the ruins of a place of the same kind at Pompeii. Wild beasts and men often fought there before about 20,000 persons. The oval field at the center was the arena, which means "sand spot."

The Colosseum was of about the same shape, but fights took place on a stage instead of on an oval field. The stage was covered with sand to make it look like a regular arena.

Underneath the stage floor were dens for the wild beasts. When a lion, a tiger or other animal was wanted, it was lifted in its cage by means of ropes on pulleys. It seemed as if it were being raised right out of the earth! The beasts fought each other or tried to kill men who were ready to fight them.

On this stage there also took place spring painting done. One afternoon when the painters were around on the south side of the barn, Barrie took a can of red paint that he found in the woodshed and climbed up on a high ladder and began to paint the north side of the barn. He spanked the paint brush down the way he had seen the painters do, then drew his coat smooth.

Billy and Betty Cut-Out and the other children came running to watch him. Suddenly Barrie gave a little squeal and bounced up and down on the ladder.

"Look what's here under the eaves," he called. "It's a wren's nest with four baby wrens in it!" Barrie stood there and peered into the nest of grass at the bald, squalling babies until a little mother wren came fluttering back with a worm. Then Barrie had to leave or get his eye scratched out.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Stocks dropped to a new record low in today's session, railings quite briskly in the afternoon after giving evidence through the earlier hours of a solid up condition in the market. The market was officially closed, so there was no opportunity to bring out further liquidation and succeeded in forcing new long and speculative like Congoleum American, Standard Oil, National Smelting and in the copper group where Anaconda reached the lowest level since 1920.

Bright rallying tendencies characterized the action of the market through the day, however, and there was about a point in Baldwin and other industrial leaders. Louisville and Nashville was the outstanding feature of the market, moving up to 100 and 34½, high on the basis of the dividend rate to a 10 basis from the 9½ rate previously paid.

71 COUNCIL WILL PLAN CENTENARY

First Citizens to Convene In Austin May 21

DALLAS, Texas, May 15.—Seventy-one of the first citizens of Texas will sit around a council table at Austin, May 21, to further consider important preliminary activities looking toward the celebration of 100 years of American control and development of the Lone Star state.

"The celebration that is in the making will be built along lines big enough to draw the attention of the world to Texas, and to bring through our gates a procession of world folk, comparable with the greatest expositions that ever have been held." It was declared yesterday by Cato Sells, chairman of the Texas Centennial Celebration, when he announced the meeting of the 71 now chosen directors in Austin on May 21 and reviewed briefly the progress of the Centennial idea.

There is no doubt in Chairman Sells' judgment that when the governing board of directors of 100 representative Texans has been completed it will altogether be the strongest group of citizens ever assembled in Texas for the carrying out of a definite undertaking. "Already it is manifest," Chairman Sells said, "that the Centennial will have the benefit of the best minds and stoutest hearts in Texas. And it is clearly apparent that the country at large expects Texas to put this Centennial Celebration over in a way that will be typically characteristic of Texan and flavored with the gaiety of Texas. Not only is the outside world grasping the possibilities of the Celebration but more and more Texans themselves are awakening to the tremendous possibilities of the Centennial idea. The fervor of the citizens of Texas is being universally aroused and I am convinced that presently we will be exalted with the pride of having accomplished the most extraordinary celebration of a great Anniversary that this country, if not the world has ever seen. It is not too big a thing for Texas to do if we should stage within our borders a celebration that has never been matched in brilliancy of conception nor in breadth of attainment. Exact time and place are matters of secondary moment right now. The immediate task is to lay the foundation for something worthy of this great Commonwealth and its one hundred years of unparalleled achievements."

Machinery for the creation of the governing board of the 100 outstanding citizens was set up at the State Convention of Texas held at Austin on February 11, when the Texas Centennial Celebration was definitely determined upon. The senatorial districts having selected all of their 62 directors, and Governor Neff, Lieut. Gov. T. W. Davidson and Speaker of the House, Hon. R. E. Seager, having named the members of the board assigned to them for appointment, there remains only 22 directors to be chosen from the state at large by the 71 constituting the now selected nucleus of the Centennial Board.

The momentum acquired by the Texas Centennial since it was proposed has been unusually interesting. Not an inactive day has passed since last November when the 30th district Associated Advertising Club of the world met in Convention at Cincinnati, the home of Secretary Lowry Martin, and pronounced the Centennial idea. Indefatigable activities have continuously obtained sowing seeds of the Texas Centennial. By February 12 there was a ripe harvest, when nearly a thousand representative Texans accepted invitation to gather at Austin and make further plans. A definite preliminary program was initiated in that session. Since that time there have been formal meetings and informal conferences in practically every county in Texas and in every state senatorial district.

"The idea has taken with exactly the interest and enthusiasm we would wish," Chairman Sells said, and the seeds of the Centennial have been sown everywhere. One of the big by-products of the Centennial should be the building of the spirit of comradeship with the countries of Pan-Americanism and that conception already is in the flower. As a member of Uncle Sam's family, we are close neighbors to all the countries that constitute Latin America. In commerce our interests are compellingly sympathetic and as Texans and Americans we have friendship with those neighbors of ours to the South. Through the medium of a great exposition to be constructed in Texas we can lay the basis of a better understanding with all Pan-American to the mutual advantage of all concerned."

The following Texans have been selected as members of the Centennial governing board and will attend the meeting at Austin, May 21:

Beware of Alcohol

Any man or woman who suffers with kidney trouble should not take medicines that contain alcohol.

There is an herb balm called Hobo Kidney and Bladder Remedy famous through the Southwest for its healing properties—it is made from an herb plant that grows in parts of East Texas and Louisiana. It contains no alcohol, opiums, or habit forming drugs, but does carry a powerful purifying property that has been used for years in the treatment of serious organic ailments.

It gives relief when other remedies fail. A treatment of six bottles costs $6.00 and is guaranteed to give satisfaction even in the most serious cases. If your druggist does not have it write Hobo Medicine Company, Beaufort, Texas.—Adv.
